OFFICE: No. 15 Quincy Street-

FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1872. THE Register is simply mistaken, no to say silly, in its talk about the INTELLI-GENCER having been "silent" on the project of building an opera house in this city. Frequent notices of the matter have appeared in our columns, and it has had a reasonable amount of prominence sufficient we presume to advise our read ers of what was going forward and to afford them opportunity to aid the enter prise if they desired to do so. The present editor of the Register has been absent until quite recently, very closely absorbed by his duties as an "employe' of the Public Printer, and has not kept himself posted as to the contents of the INTELLIGENCER. We have not felt inclined to be urgent in advising our citizens to subscribe to an opera house, because we have been so long and persistently urging them to put their spare capi tal into enterprises that seem to be much more necessary at present to the prosperity of the city. But at the same of Wheeling that certain parties, said to be able and responsible, have proposed to build and equip these roads upon certain conditions. These conditions are, and the conditions are also conditions. such a hall for public entertainments as such a hall for public entertainments as I am informed, in one case—that of the would be pleasant and sufficient for our Wheeling & Lake Erie road—that loca own people and not discredit the city in the eyes of strangers who visit us. It the line, and that in the other case must be conjessed there is no such place that of the Wheeling and Tuscarawas here now. It is suggested that the capital that would be put into an opera house dollars. Now, if these amounts of local contents and the such as the sale of would not else go into railroads or bridges, and that the building of one would not at all affect any of the other enterprises talked of. This, is probably true, in the main at least. A very important consideration with those who are asked to take stock in an opera house is, the probability of the return that would be made on the investment; for while most are disposed to give something from considered. It is well known that both roads have already applied to Wheeling for her aid would not else go into railroads or are disposed to give something from considerations of public spirit they will to enable them to raise the minimum not subscribe very largely unless there shall appear to be a probability of a fair return. Of course each must judge of other the same amount of city subscript. be little doubt that a building may be erected which will be a vast improve-time ago it was announced from Washington that this sentence had been pronounced on him; and then came the intelligence that he had not been sentenced, but that Judge Carter would pronounce complishment, and we shall be left with the sentence in a few days and was resolvwas before the final sentence was announced that we made the remark that the editor of the Telegraph would not allow Sumner to be President possibly because he wanted the place for Stokes "when he got out of the l'enitentiary," the expectation then being that such would be his sentence. We have already announced ed to send him to the penitentiary. It sentence. We have already announced out the railroad. sent to the penitentiary but not because he did not deserve it. His offense was of a two-fold character. He was not only guilty of prosecuting a claim against the government while a member of Congress, but the claim was a fraudulent one and he was convicted by his own letters of being a party to the preparation of the fraudulent one of the preparation of the fraudulent one of the great that if Wheeling wants another road to the west or northwest it will have to be built on Ohio territory, and it is by no a party to the preparation of the fraudulent one of the great that the people of Ohio need. a party to the preparation of the fraud.

But for the purpose of letting him off as lightly as possible, the prosecution chesc to prosecute the lesser offence, and Judge CARTER awarded the lightest penalty to say on other considerations that, to my mind, lie against the bridge enterwhich the law permitted for that.

ALAS, POOR YORICK !- It is reported in the city that the Register's correspondent "Yorick" has got himself into trouble.

The gentleman is a citizen of Weston, and the statement is that he has been made the subject of some remarks in writing by the foreman of the Grand Jury of Lewis county, the drift of which was that Mr. "Yorick" had been, to use his own elegant phraseology, "slinging" too "nasty a pen." "Yorick," it is further trouble.

Facts for the Single.

A French philosopher has lately brought to light some curious social statistics compiled from the records of eleven years in France, Belgium and Holland, relative to the longevity of married and single men, which furnish fresh proofsof the danger of living. It appears that married men between the age of twenty-five and thirty years are far more apt to live than unmarried men, the ratio of deaths being, in their fayor, as four

The Bridge Enterprise---The Other To the Editors of the Intelligencer

To the Editors of the Intelligencer.

Knowing that your columns are open to discussions on both sides of all public measures, I desire to avail myself of the privilege thus allowed, to offer a few thoughts on the railroad bridge enterprise recently brought before the public by the publication in the city papers, of "an act to incorporate the Wheeling and Union Railroad Company," and by your article Railroad Company," and by your article on that enterprise in your issue of the 6th

That it is eminently proper that Wheeling should, by her capital and influence, aid in securing more and better railroad for efficient than she now possesses, I fully endorse; but that the expenditure of so large an amount of capital as will be required to construct the proposed bridge, is the best way to begin the acquisition of such facilities, I seriously and honestly depth.

The people of Wheeling have long been convinced of the imperative necessity of a railroad to the Northwest; and two projects of that character are now befor them, and have been for several month past. I know it is claimed by the origina tors and friends of the bridge enterprise that its primary and main object is to invite and encourage just such projects as these proposed northwestern roads. But let us see whether the building of a bridge to the eastern shore of the rive would really be an aid or encouragement to these roads or either of them. It is pretty well known to the people

Whether or not the aid thus asked would be granted, should not the ment on anything we have, within limits bridge enterprise come in to absorb ou capital and divert it into another chann of expenditure that will pay handsomely. Mr. FORD, of Baltimore, thinks it neither judicious nor needful to go beyond storm and the sum he thinks we extend that aid certainly indicates a willingness on the part of the city to do so.
But granting that from any cause may have an elegant and sufficiently large opera house, and one that will pay good whatever, these railroad projects proper shall not receive from us the help the desire to enable them to fulfill the condi-tions upon which the roads are propose to be built, the question occurs, can the announce shortly that the enterprise is a success.
